

The Awakening

By Kevinette Considine

for the Plymouth Garden Club Annual meeting

June 9,2021

Leaves returning from their winter engagement
Sing songs from unfurling tips
With the accompaniment of soft breezes...

Garden fairies, visible only to true mystics
Flicker about
Kissing each bud into an explosion
Of summer fragrance...

Rabbits leaping on patches of newly formed grass,
Kick up the dew..
Merging it to the soft floating morning mist
Suspended magically by unseen tethered lines...

Chickadees and Carolina wrens... offer the symphonic sounds of nature's Concerto..
Announcing the start of a new day

I open my eyes
with unfolding mysteries secretly calling my name
Offerings yet to be discovered

I kiss the sun, stretch out my arms and embrace another new beginning

Good Morning
